

Advanced Honors Seminar for Contemporary Theory, Winter 2018, Professor Guhin

We're going to be reading a short story each week related to the themes we're discussing. You should come to our discussion having read the story and also be able to relate it to at least the Tuesday reading. The readings for this course are on the main course syllabus.

For the course, you should write a short story between 1500 and 6000 words with a 1000 word reflection on how the story relates to articles in the lecture course and stories we read.

Grading will be 50 percent based on participation and 50 percent on the final story. You are allowed one absence and after that they will affect your grades.

Participation will be based on a three part scale: 0 for not attending, .5 for attendance, and 1 for active participation.

This seminar should be a lot of fun!
